Harry E. Rice

Mrs. S. H. Gump and Mrs. William Beckley, of this place, were called to East Stroudsburg, Pa., to attend the funeral of their brother, Harry E. Rice, which took place last Friday. Deceased was a son of Rev. and Mrs. J. M. Rice and was about 35 years of age. He met death by drowning while at work at Shohola, N. Y., being in the employ of the Penna. Coal Company. The afternoon of March 12, when attempting to move some logs which had jammed, he fell into the stream and it is supposed a log struck his head. The body was recovered four hours afterward.

The parents of deceased were former residents of St. Clairsville, this county, where his father was pastor of the Lutheran Church about 25 years ago. His death is the first to occur in a family of eleven.

His parents and the following brothers and sisters, all of whom attended the funeral, survive: Mrs. Ella Eveler of Atlantic City, Mrs. Nettie O'Donnell of Lakewood, N. J.; Mrs. Andrews of Saylorburg, Mrs. Mary Beckley and Mrs. Lillie Gump, of Bedford; J. S. Rice of North Water Gap, Reynolds and William, of Altoona; Frederick of Scranton, and Frank of Stroudsburg.

CANDIDATE FOR SENATE

Amos W. Knepper of Somerset Maintains Position on Local Option.

Relative to his platform in the present campaign, Mr. Knepper, a Republican candidate for State Senator in the Thirty-Sixth Senatorial District, gives the following for publication:

"On the Local Option question I maintain the position which I held during the two legislative sessions passed. I earnestly desire the enactment of a Local Option Law, and if elected to the Senate I will work and vote for the same and all other measures which will promote the cause of temperance. In the session of 1907 I worked and voted to place the Craven Local Option Bill on the calendar. In the session of 1909 I worked and voted for the Fair Local Option Bill."

Barn Destroyed by Fire

The large log barn of William B. Hite in Cumberland Valley was destroyed by fire last Friday during the absence of the owner. It is supposed to have been caused by children playing in the barn. No livestock was burned but a binder, hay rake, mower, other farming machinery and utensils, hay and feed were destroyed.

Messrs. M. V. Zeth of Hopewell and A. J. Himes of Six Mile Run, and J. F. Biddle, Esq., of Everett, were Bedford visitors on Wednesday.

Mr. Robert McMullen, who has been in the service of "Uncle Sam" for the past three years and who was with the Fleet on the recent trip around the world, is here on a visit to his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Oliver S. McMullen, South Richard Street.

Mr. Harry Barnhart of New York City, Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Woodruff and daughter, Miss Lena, of Washington, D. C., were called here this week by the illness of their father, Mr. Jacob Barnhart.

Mrs. A. B. Egolf left on Wednesday for Bellefonte, Ill., where her father, Dr. M. W. Carter, is seriously ill. Having spent a number of summers in this county Dr. Carter is well and favorably known here.

M. E. MINISTERS PLACED

Those Who Will Serve County Congregations—Others Known Here.

At the Methodist Conference at York on Tuesday the following ministers were assigned places in this county:

Alum Bank, James W. Chambers; Bedford, William V. Ganoe; Clearville, Jonathan Guldin; Everett, William J. Stauffer; Hopewell, William W. Reese; Ray's Hill, Charles F. Weise; Riddlesburg, Willis W. Willard; Saxton, Edwin L. Essinger; Schellsburg, George W. King; Wolfsburg, Albert S. Luring.

Former Bedford County pastors have been placed as follows:

R. H. Colburn, Selinsgrove; J. Ellis Bell, York; George Leidy, Mt. Union; E. C. Keboch, New Bloomfield; J. V. Adams, Newport; W. A. Lepley, Newton Hamilton; John S. Souser, Huntington; F. W. Biddle, Roaring Spring; C. W. Karns, Tyrone; W. G. Steel, Williamsburg; E. E. Harter, Austin; A. R. Miller, Jersey Shore; F. W. Rohrer, Salladasburg; J. K. Lloyd, Williamsport; H. K. Ash, Woolrich.

Mrs. Margaret Whetstone

Mrs. Margaret Whetstone, widow of William Whetstone, died at her home near Breezewood on Sunday, March 20, at the advanced age of 83 years, seven months and 27 days.

The deceased, whose maiden name was Margaret Margart, was born and reared in Ray's Cove. Early in life she became a member of the Evangelical Lutheran Church at Ray's Hill, remaining faithful to the end. The words of the Psalmist are appropriately fulfilled in her long life where he says, "With long life will I satisfy thee and show thee my salvation."

Her husband, William Whetstone, preceded her to the Spirit World about 25 years ago; also one son, John Whetstone. She is survived by three children: Miss Sadie in the home place, Mrs. William E. Smith of Cumberland Valley, and J. Elmer of Everett.

The funeral services were held Tuesday morning in the Ray's Hill Lutheran Church, conducted by her former pastor, Rev. J. W. Lingle of Bedford. Interment in the cemetery adjoining the church.

David Schnably

David Schnably, an aged and respected resident of Bedford Township, died suddenly at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Bruce Zimmers, on March 16, in his 81st year.

Deceased was a son of John and Elizabeth Schnably and was born May 23, 1829, in Bedford Township. On February 19, 1852, he was married to Miss Esther Ernest, who died a number of years ago.

Five children survive, as follows: John H. Schnably of this place, D. O. Mrs. Bruce Zimmers and Mrs. George F. Zimmers, of Bedford Township, and J. F. of Waterside; also a brother, Abram Schnably, of Bedford Township, 12 grandchildren and five great-grandchildren.

The funeral was held last Friday in the Messiah Lutheran Church, Rev. H. C. Salem conducting the services. Interment in the graveyard adjoining the church.

Miss Julia Hartel

After a short illness of pneumonia, Miss Julia Hartel died at her home near Weyant on March 18, at the age of 54 years, eight months and 27 days. A sister, Miss Susan, died on March 9 and grief over her death undoubtedly hastened the end. The sisters lived together since the death of their mother about two years ago.

One brother and one sister survive: Samuel Hartel of Weyant and Mrs. John Miller of Pleasantville. Rev. J. W. Zehring conducted the funeral services, which were held on Sunday in the Reformed Church at Pavia.

W. F. Hendrickson

Will F. Hendrickson, a former editor of the Hawkeye, died suddenly in Denver, Colo., on March 5, aged 42 years. Before coming to Bedford he edited the Osterburg Press. On leaving here he was employed at Altoona and later conducted the Windber Journal.

He had been in Denver for about seven years.

Mr. Hendrickson was a vigorous writer and a newspaper man of more than ordinary ability. His wife and several children survive. The body, was brought to Middlebury, Pa., for interment.

George W. Mauk

George W. Mauk died at Roaring Spring on March 21, aged 52 years. He was born at Peoria, Ill., and when his parents moved to Osterburg. He was educated at the Cassville Orphan School and later was employed in flour mills at Maria, Waterside, Ryan, Schellsburg and Mann's Choice as head miller.

His wife, five sons and four sisters survive, one of the latter being Mrs. Ida Feather of Pleasantville. Interment was made at Roaring Spring.

Miss Anna Finkelday

Miss Anna Finkelday, aged 54 years, died on Sunday, March 20, at the home of her sister, Mrs. Dora Trost, at Mann's Choice, death being due to apoplexy.

The body was taken to the home of a brother at Cumberland, where the funeral was held on Tuesday.

Jacob Barnhart

After a short illness, Jacob Barnhart, a member of the Board of Poor Directors and highly respected citizen, died Wednesday night at the home of his son Will on East Penn Street.

The funeral will be held at 1 o'clock tomorrow afternoon. Particulars next week.

$3.50 RECIPE CURES WEAK KIDNEYS FREE

Relieves Urinary and Kidney Troubles, Backache, Straining, Swelling, Etc.

Stops Pain in the Bladder, Kidneys and Back.

Wouldn't it be nice within a week or so to begin to say goodbye forever to the scalding, dribbling, straining, or too frequent passage of urine; the forehead and the back-of-the-head aches; the stitches and pains in the back; the growing muscle weakness; spots before the eyes; yellow skin; sluggish bowels; swollen eyelids or ankles; leg cramps; unnatural short breath; sleeplessness and the headache?

I have a recipe for these troubles that you can depend on, and if you want to make a quick recovery, you ought to write and get a copy of it. Many a doctor would charge you $3.50 just for writing this prescription, but I have it and will be glad to send it to you entirely free. Just drop me a line like this: Dr. A. E. Robinson, K. 321 Luck Building, Detroit, Mich., and I will send it by return mail in a plain envelope. As you will see when you get it, this recipe contains only pure, harmless remedies, but it has a great healing and pain-conquering power.

It will quickly show its power once you use it, so I think you had better see what it is without delay. I will send you a copy free—you can use it and cure yourself at home.

HECKERMAN LETTER

Observations of the License Question—Street Improvement.

Kittanning, Pa. Since leaving Bedford on this trip I have endeavored to learn something about the granting of licenses, etc. A year ago the judge of Indiana County in granting licenses laid down certain rules, one of which was as to treating. I do not know the exact wording of the rule, but suppose it was much like that Judge Woods recently laid down for Bedford County hotel men. I am told that in Indiana County it has worked wonders; that no one is now seen hanging around the bar rooms waiting for some acquaintance to come in and say: "George, Sam, Tom, Dick or Harry, come up and have something with me;" and that not one-tenth of the drinking is done now that was formerly done.

Persons, as a rule, don't like to stand up at the bar and drink alone, and with the forbidding rule as to treating, I imagine there will be a decided falling off in dimes when the time comes for the counting of the receipts. One never did see many drunks in Bedford and the number will be perceptibly fewer after April 1. Had this rule been adopted long ago it would have done wonders toward prohibition.

From the report as published in The Gazette it is very evident that licenses were not sold out this year. I am only sorry that the Bedford House was refused as it is one of the oldest hotels in the town.

Did you have any nice, spring-like days last week? We had a couple, and on one of these Dad might have been seen with Anna Heckerman snuggly tucked in her carriage tramping over the streets of Wilkinsburg. She is the only daughter of Nevin Heckerman and she is a Heckerman in looks and actions. One of her Dutch kisses is worth a whole regiment of some other kinds.

The oldest inhabitants of this town tell me that they had more snowfall here the past winter than in any one in fifty years. Now that may be true, but fifty years seems like a long time, and it would be under some circumstances, yet time goes very rapidly with me unless I am sitting at some railroad station waiting for a train that is marked up on time but is even now ten minutes late and we never know when it is coming.

The snow-and-ice covers the streets and pavements in Kittanning to the depth of many inches yet, while over near Connellsville I saw two men plowing one day last week.

I am anxious to know when your City Fathers are going to crush the stones now quarried and with the same pike East John Street out past Fred Metzger's. I have paid about sixty-three dollars borough tax each year for twenty-three years and have never had a dime's worth of good out of the borough in the repairing of the streets. Now you, the Honorable Council of Bedford Borough, pike the street from Mr. Madore's corner out as far as Mrs. Hall's corner this summer is the prayer of Metzger, Heckerman, et al. Yours truly,

M. P. Heckerman.

If you haven't the time to exercise regularly, Doan's Regulets will prevent constipation. They induce a mild, easy, healthful action of the bowels without griping. Ask your druggist for them. 25c.

WITH THE FLEET

Annual Boat Race—An Accident on Board Ship.

U. S. S. Virginia, Guantanamo Bay, Cuba.

Editor Gazette:—The program for our target practice has been changed, so that instead of having our preliminary practice off the coast of Cuba, the fleet will leave for Hampton Roads, Va., the 25th of this month, where they will coal up and then proceed to the Southern Drill Grounds, off the coast of Virginia, for target practice.

The rifle and pistol practice has been completed on the range here. This target range is a very extensive affair, having been built by the U. S. Government and contains about 300 targets, ranging from 15 yards to 1,000 yards. During the target practice our division, marines and sailors, were camped near the range. We landed on the 20th of last month, and came back to the ship March 3d. Out of our company of 60 men, we have 26 marksmen and one sharp-shooter, which is a very good record.

Our camp was pitched on a bluff along the bay but on account of the dry weather was very dusty and every little breeze made it very disagreeable, consequently we were glad to get back on board ship where everything is nice and clean. The time passed very quickly to us as we were always busy, spending most of the days on the target range, either on the firing line or in the bunks working the targets; in the evenings we had band concerts and entertainments in the "local theater."

Washington's birthday was observed as holiday, and Sunday routine carried out. Baseball games and field sports were the order of the day.

The yearly boat races for the cups of the fleet were pulled off last Sunday, while the greatest excitement prevailed on board all ships. The two-mile course extended between the line of the two squadrons and as the boats passed each ship they were greeted with great cheering.

We had a disastrous accident on board the Virginia when the salute was fired to our division commander, Rear Admiral Vreeland. A shell exploded, putting out the eyes of one of our gunner's mates and tearing an arm off another.

Baseball is the chief sport now and our teams will all be in fine condition when we get back to the states. The weather is all one could wish for and we hope it will be warm at Hampton Roads when we arrive.

Very truly,
Vance L. Ealy,
Corporal U. S. M. C.

TESTED AND PROVEN

There is a Heap of Solace in Being Able to Depend Upon a Well-Earned Reputation.

For months Bedford readers have seen the constant expression of praise for Doan's Kidney Pills, and read about the good work they have done in this locality. Not another remedy ever produced such convincing proof of merit.

Mrs. Martha Davidson, 357 W. Pitt Street, Bedford, Pa., says: "I was in poor health for some time and I now feel certain that my condition was due to disordered kidneys. I was subject to nervous spells and headaches and there was a constant, dull ache in the small of my back. The least amount of work tired me and I was miserable in every way when I happened to see Doan's Kidney Pills advertised. I procured a box at John R. Dull's Drug Store and they acted just as represented, bringing prompt and effective relief. I consider Doan's Kidney Pills a most reliable kidney medicine." (Statement given October 14, 1907.)

A Permanent Cure

When Mrs. Davidson was interviewed on November 13, 1909, she added: "I still have unlimited confidence in Doan's Kidney Pills and I am willing to again recommend them. The relief they gave me has been lasting and during the past two years I have had no need of a kidney medicine whatever."

INDIGESTION

Relief in Five Minutes and Permanent Cure or Money Back.

When F. W. Jordan states that he has a remedy that is guaranteed to cure any man or woman who suffers from food fermentation which causes belching, sour stomach, gas eructations, heartburn and that lump of lead feeling in the abdomen or money back what are the poor stomach sufferers in Bedford and vicinity going to do about it?

The name of this most remarkable stomach prescription is Mi-o-na. Most people call them Mi-o-na stomach tablets because they know that there is no remedy so good for indigestion or stomach disorders. Here is one opinion:

"I have been troubled with indigestion for more than a year. I bought one box of Mi-o-na and it cured me. Now I would not be without a box in the house for $50.00. It saves a lot of doctor bills when you can be cured for 50 cents. You can use my name if you want to." —Arthur Sederquist, 6 Nichols St., Wakefield, Mass., Nov. 7, 1909.

Mi-o-na stomach tablets cost 50 cents a box at druggists everywhere and at F. W. Jordan's.

Booth's Pills will give constipation sufferers a joyful surprise. 25c.

HYOMEI
(PRONOUNCED HIGH-O-ME)

Cures catarrh or money back. Complete outfit, including inhaler $1. Extra bottles 50c. Druggists.

EASTER OFFERING

"Love one another." John 15: 17. Love now. Love always; yesterday, today, tomorrow. Do not seal up for future use the spirit within you of man's humanity to man. Dispense gentleness and sympathy, tenderness and love, ever keeping the best within you awake and active doing deeds of goodness to humanity.

The more slight drafts of sympathy you pay with the "golden coin" of rational, sincere love, the stronger you will become and the more dividends you can and will distribute by your "handiwork" to the meek and the lowly who are famishing all about you for just "old fashion" kindness.

Give consideration and charity in "full pressed down measure," fellowship and flowers, loyalty and love to the living rather than to the departed.

Post-mortem protestations are usually idle pretenses and are not only an insult to the memory of the dead but evidence irrefragable of hypocrisy. Tie up every unhappy incident of the present into bundles of the forgotten past and throw them overboard as useless ballast.

Humanity demands, conscience approves and all the good in the world applauds the genial and glowing warmth of honest love, whether it is husband and wife, parent and child, sister and brother, the "lassie" for her "laddie," or the faithful dog for its master or the master's love for his dog, or the love universal in the heart of man for the Infinite.

Love is the "beginning," the "span" and the "ending" of every mortal that regards the jewel of the soul as the true riches of earth and immortality's crown the "Ultima Thule" of the life beyond, where the Great King reigns. Love now.—Willis George Emerson.

DEMOCRATS VICTORIOUS

In the first election of a member of Congress in Massachusetts since the new tariff went into effect Eugene N. Foss, Democrat, was elected over W. R. Buchanan by a majority of 5,040. In 1908 the plurality of W. C. Lavering, Republican, was 14,259. A Democrat had never before been chosen for Congress from this district. The main points at issue were the tariff and Canadian reciprocity.

"The result shows a demand by the people that the Republican party fulfil its pledges for an honest reduction of the tariff.

"It is a demand for the immediate repeal of section two of the Payne-Aldrich act, which substitutes retaliation for reciprocity and threatens commercial warfare with our best customers."—Eugene N. Foss.

"If the result will serve to convince the Republican leaders at Washington that something must be speedily accomplished in the way of lowering the cost of living, I shall feel that my defeat has not been without value."—William R. Buchanan.

Centreville

March 22—Mrs. Susie Casteel received a very agreeable "pounding" Saturday night; her many friends gathered at her home and brought with them about $50 worth of goods, which consisted of 1½ barrels of flour, sugar, coffee, cereals, dry goods and notions. Mrs. Casteel fell recently and injured her back so badly that she has not been able to do any sewing since. This is her occupation; she having three small children to care for.

Our farmers are well on with their spring plowing. This has been one of the best maple sugar seasons for years, but poor grain weather, as what is good weather for one is severe on the other. There are several camps open and all report a great flow of water.

Miss Jennie Tewell scalded her arm very badly Monday morning.

Cessna

March 23—Norman Amick made a business trip to Ryton on Monday. He will shortly move to Altoona.

Mr. and Mrs. George Amick, of Point, spent a few days this week with their son Norman.

Elmer Heltzell has gone to eastern cities to seek employment.

Fred Berkheimer killed a wild goose last Saturday.

There will be Easter service in St. John's Lutheran Church Monday evening.

A carload of walnut logs was shipped from here last Saturday.

The following is the report of the Cessna school for the sixth month ending March 21: Number in attendance—males 11, females 8; total 19. Per cent of attendance—males 93, females 95; total 94. Those attending every day during month: Gora and Lewis Gephart, Ruth Herschberger, Esther Claar, Edythe McCallion, Clyde Imler, Harry Pensyl, Byron and Wilber Wisegarver.

Milliken's Cove

March 23—William Reynolds of the Upper Cove Sundayed at the home of Albert May.

CHAPTER XII.

MIDLIGHT in the rooms of a leading daily paper in a big city is not a time when peaceful slumber is in order for those who are concerned in the business of producing the paper. It is the time when trained brains and trained hands are exerted to the extreme limit of their capacity to get the very latest news into shape, into type, into the press, into the mail wagons and "on the street."

And it is in the composing room where the brunt of the battle is borne in the final hours in which is completed the record of a world's doings and undoings for a day. "Masses of 'copy' swirl upward in the tubes or are carried in by boys from the city editorial room. The typesetting machines click, click, in unceasing monotony, and the proofreaders scan columns of "green proofs" with a rapidity, when under pressure, that would amaze the uninitiated observer. The "makeup" men cluster around the cumbersome tables or "stones" on which the forms are made up, lifting in the metal lines of type here, making corrections or shifting cuts there and locking the forms to be shunted into the stereotype room, where the paper matrices will be made. When the matrix is placed in the casting box the molten stereotype metal is poured in, and within a very few minutes the cylindrical plates, hardened quickly in the casting box by the pouring of cold water into the jacket, are locked on the cylinders of the gigantic duodecuple press and ready to whirl off over 100 copies of a paper per second, all printed, pasted, folded and counted.

Midnight in the offices of the Advance on the night that Judge Bartelmy's photograph was taken with $10,000 of bribe money in his hands found the staff of the paper in all departments working as probably they had never worked before, except on election night. The story required considerable time for preparation. The notes of Howard and Jeff, the two reporters who recorded the conversation of Brand and Bartelmy, had to be translated from shorthand into English. Then an introduction and a head had to be written, and the art department had to break all previous records in turning out a cut made from the photograph resulting from the flashlight.

In the composing room men were working like galley slaves to get the great Bartelmy exposure story into type and into the forms. The composing room in the Advance building was a "double decker"—i. e., a second story had been built in the rear part of the room to accommodate the proof-readers. This second story was really but a half story, extending out over a portion of the composing room, and the walls were partitions, the lower half of wood and the upper half of glass windows.

On the lower floor the linotype machines were set in rows. A steam table loomed on one side. On another table, an ironbound one, rested the galley containing matter for the night's edition of the paper. At the extreme left of the room a wooden partition shut off the small office that the managing editor used at night when he superintended the makeup proceedings. A door opened into this small room from the outer hall, close to a door opening from the hall into the composing room itself. At the opposite end of the compartment a door opened into the composing room. In his small enclosure Brand, the managing editor, had a desk and a telephone. Adjoining the partition, which shut him off from the composing room and on the outside of it, was a desk used by the copy cutters, who cut the pages of manuscript—after they had been pasted together—into "takes." A take is one of the sections into which a story is cut, so that several compositors can work on different parts of the same story simultaneously, resulting in the saving of considerable time in setting it up.

Quilting Party

A very enjoyable quilting party was held at the home of Carrie Miller near here recently, the occasion being a surprise. An excellent dinner was served to the following guests: Mrs. Barley, Della Glacken, Ida Shanley, Samuel Shanley and children, Mrs. David Custer, David and Charlie Custer, of New Paris; Mrs. Nettie Ferguson and two children, Pierce Custer of Stoyestown, Mrs. Lucy Ferguson, Rhoda Lape and Mrs. Maggie Oldham and two children, of New Paris; Mrs. Nathan Miller, Mrs. Samuel Dull, Stella Anstead, Harry Dull, Mrs. Randall McCreary, Sue, Glen and Daisy McCreary, Mrs. Jacob Wertz and three children, Edward Fetter, Mrs. Della Manges, Irene, Fred and Jessie Manges, Amanda Gordon and Mrs. Emma Custer and children, all of this place. Heltville, March 19, 1910.

"That cut is a wonder, Mac!"

sneered Sylvester. "In the absence of my father I forbid it. Do you hear?" Brand took up a bundle of proofs and moved to the door. "I'm afraid I can't take orders from you," he said, and he stepped calmly out into the composing room.

Sylvester, nonplussed, looked about uncertainly for a moment. Then, with a sudden thought, he went to the telephone.

He placed the receiver at his ear. "Hello! Hello! I'm Mr. Sylvester Nolan. Get me the house on the wire, please." An office boy entered. "What do you mean by trying to prevent me from coming up here?" asked young Nolan.

The typesetting machines clicked off rapidly the words, sentences and paragraphs of the Bartelmy "beat" and the other stories which had to be crowded into the "minif edition." Brand was in his little room at the right, reading the proof of the introduction of the account of the accusation of the United States judge, which introduction he had chosen to write himself. McHenry, the deposed managing editor and now Brand's assistant, was at the forms with the makeup men.

A boy rushed in with a cut for McHenry. The busy editor squinted at it and waved the boy to one side.

"Why do they send us this baled hay when we've got a live one?" he said disgustedly.

Downs came in from the city room. "That Clinton street fire is getting better every minute," he said to McHenry. "We ought to have at least four columns on it."

McHenry glared at the speaker.

"Are you crazy, man?" he exclaimed. "Do you think we use rubber type? You'll have to keep it in three."

Downs was dissatisfied.

"All right. This shop is going to the d—l," he answered, shaking his head negatively. He went out of the composing room.

McHenry went over to one of the makeup stones.

"Where are the cuts for the Chicago and Bryan jump heads? I can't find them anywhere," he asked.

"Here they are," answered one of the makeup men.

"All right. They go there." He pointed to a space in one of the forms as a boy handed him another cut. McHenry held it up to the light and buried into Brand's office with it. He laid it proudly on the managing editor's desk.

"That's a wonder, Mac!" pronounced Brand.

McHenry agreed.

"Yes; you can almost count the money in old Bartelmy's hand!" he exclaimed, and he peered closely once more at the metal slab.

Brand meditated a moment.

"I'm going to change the makeup on that page," he decided. "Put this cut at the top of the page, so that when the papers are folded on the newsstands every one that passes by will see Bartelmy offering a bribe of $10,000 to suppress the truth about himself. Is your story all up yet?"

"Yes. It's in the form."

"Then go finish it off and send it down to the stereotyping room."

McHenry turned away.

"Won't this make the Patriot sick?" he said as he left. "They'd give the shirts off their backs to beat us on a story like this or to keep us from doing it to them."

As McHenry went out of the door into the composing room Sylvester Nolan dashed into Brand's room from the ball through the other door. The lad was plainly excited, his face showing an amount of animation that, for him, was a decided novelty. His eyes flashed and his breath came in short gasps, indicating that he had been hurrying.

"Where's my father, Mr. Brand? Where is he?" he gasped.

Brand suspected something of the Nolan son's errand.

"I'm afraid you'll have to find him," was the only information he chose to impart.

Young Nolan drew close to the desk at which the managing editor was working.

"Judge Bartelmy wants him," he exclaimed. "The judge, the judge! Don't you understand?"

"Does he?" asked Brand with utmost unconcern.

Sylvester grew impatient at his father's employee who dared assume indifference toward his father's only son. "I want to know where he is," he demanded.

"Well, I can't tell you," Brand rose and stepped away, with Sylvester following him.

"I understand that you are going to publish something about the judge that's beyond the limit," said the son. "Possibly."

"Well, this thing's gone far enough,"

"My orders."

"You're discharged." The boy grinned amusedly and hurried out.

"Hello! Hello!" continued Sylvester at the telephone. "Is this you, mother? I want to speak to father. I'm at the Advance office. Hell's breaking loose here, and I want him to come down quick. Isn't he there? Where is he? Expecting him any minute? Oh!

Jump in a taxi and come down, will you? All right. Good!"

He hung up the receiver and walked swiftly into the hall to leave the building.

Downs and Brand entered the little room.

"There is a big fire in Clinton street," the former said. "McHenry won't give

"Jump in a taxi and come down," he room, but I've got to have it."

"That's it. The good stuff always comes in bunches," said Brand, showing his disgust. "What else you got?"

"Your cub, Powell, just came in with a prose poem on a dance hall suicide."

"Let's see it." The managing editor looked at the story, smiling broadly as he did so. "Send him in."

The voice of Edward Dupuy was heard outside.

"Is Mr. Brand in there?"

"Here; you can't go in there," a voice was heard in warning, and Brand looked up.

"Oh, yes, I can," was the cool response, and Dupuy walked in. "Brand, telmy and Dupuy might in some way persuade Nolan to order the sensational bribery story killed, this many sided young man found the time to bother with the fantastic young poet reporter and his fantastic first article.

"Madeline Jenks, eh?" commented Brand, turning over the pages. "Well, the first place you mention her name is on page 3."

He plucked off the first two pages and threw them on the floor. Powell winced painfully at the massacre of his first reportorial offspring. "Begin there," said Brand. Powell lunged downward to rescue his first two pages, but Brand kicked them away from him. "Whered she live?" he next asked.

Powell clasped his hands and gazed plaintively at the ceiling.

"Over a chop suey cafe, sir."

"Number and street?"

"Two forty-three and a half West Pearl street."

Brand threw away two more pages, Powell watching him anxiously the while.

FOOD FOR A YEAR

Meat	300 lbs.
Milk	240 qts.
Butter	100 lbs.
Eggs	27 doz.
Vegetables	500 lbs.

This represents a fair ration for a man for a year.

But some people eat and eat and grow thinner. This means a defective digestion and unsuitable food. A large size bottle of

There was a period in the past century when a movement called transcendentalism stirred the souls of thinking men. Ralph Waldo Emerson was its high priest. Emerson was the transcendental optimist. He acknowledged no evil in the universe. He knew only that which was good and held fast thereto.

We cannot all be Emersonian in intellect, but we can transcend our environment. Many of us are down amid the muck and the mire, but we can look up into the light and by hitching our wagons to the stars be drawn upward into liberty. Grief bludgeons our heads, but it need not bow them. Sorrow pierces our hearts, but it need not break them. If we believe in the justice of the Infinite, these little temporal lives will become to us only as incidents in the irresistible upward leading of the eternal.

Life is the supreme fact. Easter exemplifies the triumph of life. Let us believe only in life, refusing to be dominated by the unsubstantial wrath called death, refusing to be diverted thereby from "the upward looking and the light." Then will Easter be to us the most significant, the most inspiring, the most uplifting of all the days that dawn.

ROACHES IN THE HOUSE

Prof. Surface Tells How to Exterminate Them.

The roach nuisance has been brought to the attention of State Zoologist H. A. Surface, Harrisburg, by persons in different parts of the state. The cold winter, which resulted in brisk fires being maintained to keep up the temperature inside of dwellings, may have resulted in these pests becoming more numerous than usual.

A lawyer of Indiana, Pa., wrote to Professor Surface, saying: "For some time past I have been troubled with roaches. They keep hid in cracks during the day, but at night come out in large numbers. I think they must have been brought to the house with groceries. Everything is kept clean and in as good condition as is usually found about a well-regulated house, and still they stay."

Brand jumped up in anger and strode toward the lawyer lobbyist.

"Now, you get out of here or I'll throw you out!" he announced hotly.

"You will, will you? You just wait!" Dupuy backed slowly out of the doorway.

Brand hastened out into the composing room.

"Mac, they're beginning to squirm already!" he cried.

"We'll make them squirm more in the morning," responded the night editor significantly.

CHAPTER XIII.

BRAND, busily engaged in writing the caption for the cut that was to reveal Bartelmy in his true light, was interrupted once more—this time by the entrance of the greenish hued face of the poet reporter, Powell.

"You sent for me, sir?" asked the new scribe.

"So you've covered a suicide?" said Brand.

"Powell's" eyes rolled wildly. He clasped his hands and his knees shook in his horror at what he had learned.

"Oh, yessir—a terrible sight! I shall dre-e-a-m of it, sir! It would take a Dante to write of it. Oh, I—"

"What was this girl's name?" asked Brand in matter-of-fact tones.

"Madeline."

"Madeline what?"

"Her last name," the poet asked dazedly. "I guess I don't remember Oh, yes, it was Jenks—Madeline Jenks!" He spoke feverishly.

Brand picked up the poet's first newspaper story and began to read it. In spite of the high pressure of events that night in the Advance office, in spite of his ever present fear that Bar-

THE SUNDAY SCHOOL.

Lesson XIII.—First Quarter, For March 27, 1910.

THE INTERNATIONAL SERIES.

Text of the Lesson, Mark xvi, 1-8. Memory Verses, 6, 7—Golden Text, Rev. i, 18—Commentary Prepared by Rev. D. M. Stearns.

Having the option of a review or a resurrection lesson, we choose the Easter lesson, as there is nothing so grand as His resurrection, by which He was declared to be the Son of God, with power and without which preaching and faith are vain and no one ever has been or can be saved. The resurrection, however, must include all of His earthly life that preceded His death, His life as the Son of Mary, the seed of David according to the flesh. Matt. i gives the royal line of David's descendants through Solomon to Joseph, who became the husband of Mary, while Luke iii gives David's descendants through Nathan to Heil, whose son-in-law Joseph became by his marriage to Mary, and thus Jesus became heir to David's throne.

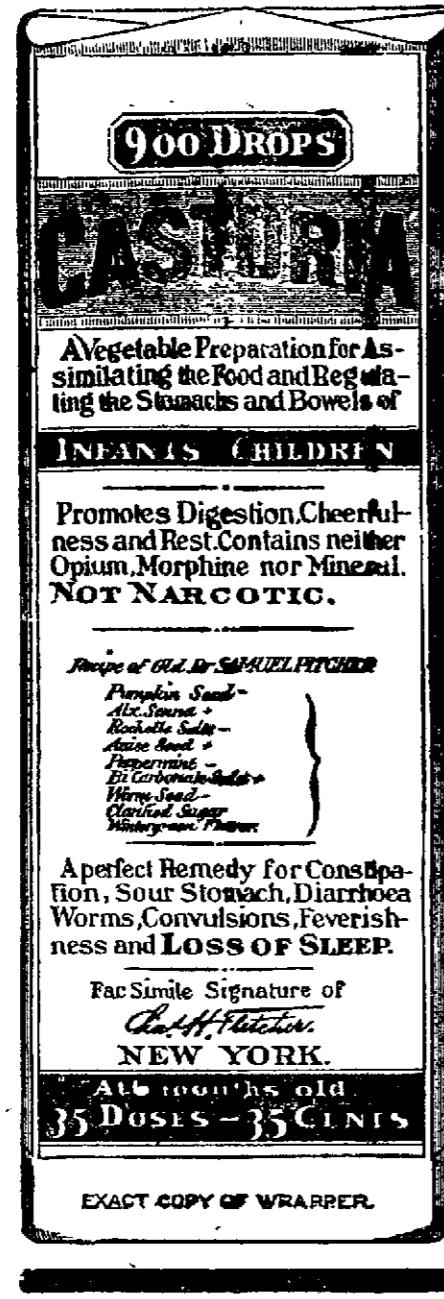

The quarter's lessons might be outlined as, first, the genealogy and birth of the King; second, the visit of the Magi and the flight of Joseph and Mary to Egypt and their return to Nazareth; third, the herald of the King and the declaration of the Father concerning Him; fourth, the King's victory over the great adversary, His testimony and the calling of some disciples; fifth to seventh, the laws of the kingdom; eighth and ninth, some samples of the nature of the kingdom.

Now, as the kingdom was postponed by the rejection and murder of the King we in this age must know the power of His resurrection if we would walk worthy of Him and manifest His life in these mortal bodies. The resurrection of the Messiah was plainly foretold in Ps. xvi and xxii, Isa. llii and elsewhere. It was wondrously foreshown in Isaac being given back to Abraham from the dead in a figure (Heb. xi, 17-19). In His teaching the Lord Jesus Himself many times spoke plainly of His death and resurrection, and the great truth of Christianity is that we have at the right hand of the Father in heaven a risen living Christ, truly a Man and truly God, in whom alone is salvation, the only Judge of all mankind and the only One who can set up a kingdom of righteousness on the earth.

The most horrible thing that ever happened on this earth and that which shows the desperately wicked nature of the human heart was the cruel murder of the Son of God, but God raised Him from the dead and gave Him glory and will yet give Him dominion over all the earth, and His redeemed shall share the kingdom with Him.

His disciples never received His words that He was to be crucified and rise from the dead the third day (Matt. xx, 17-19), but some of His enemies remembered them (Matt. xxvii, 62, 63). His mother and some of the other women who ministered to Him remained by His cross to the last, and some of them after His body was buried returned and prepared spices and ointments and rested the Sabbath day according to the commandment, intending on the first day to bring the spices and anoint His body (Luke xxiii, 55, 56; xxiv, 1). When they came to the tomb on the first day morning early they find the stone rolled away; they see an angel, who tells them that He is risen and that they must go quickly and tell His disciples. When Mary Magdalene saw the stone rolled away she ran to tell Peter and John, who ran to the sepulcher and saw for themselves and returned, but Mary remained near the sepulcher, weeping, till Jesus Himself, whom she thought at first to be the gardener, spoke to her and called her by name. When she and the other women told the disciples that He was risen from the dead they believed not, and some thought it an idle tale (verses 11, 13, 14; Luke xxiv, 11), giving Him occasion to upbraid them with their unbelief and hardness of heart. Many who now are told that the same Jesus is coming again think it an idle tale and believe not, not knowing the Scriptures nor the power of God and perhaps forgetting that Jesus said, "O fools and slow of heart to believe all that the prophets have spoken" (Luke xxiv, 25). The angels believe and desire to look more fully into these things (verses 5-7; I Pet. i, 12). Dr. Scofield gives in the margin of verse 6 this rendering: "Jesus ye seek—the Nazarene, the crucified. He arose. He is not here." He also gives in his notes on Matt. xxviii the order of the events of that morning and also the order of the different appearances during those forty days. Note in verse 7 of our lesson how Peter is mentioned by name, the true disciple who had treated Him the worst, denying with oaths that he knew Him. How true it is that weakest lambs have largest share of this tender Shepherd's care! However weak and unworthy you may be, remember that "having loved His own He loved them unto the end" (John xiii, 1).

A mere knowledge of the facts of His life and death and resurrection will benefit us nothing unless, knowing these things, we truly receive Him as our own personal Saviour and place our whole trust as lost people in the efficacy of His great sacrifice. Then the joy of being redeemed will lead us to obey with gladness His command in verse 15, counting upon a fulfillment of verse 20. Our daily life will be "serving the living and true God" and our attitude "waiting for His Son from heaven" (I Thess. 1, 9, 10).

A Wonderful Discovery for Pimples.

It is surprising how quickly and easily pimples and black-heads can be cured with the following prescription, which was made known to the public a short time ago by a celebrated specialist on skin diseases, now retired, who used it in a long and successful practice with wonderful results. To use his own words: "There is nothing yet discovered that can compare with it for promptly removing pimples, eczema, black-heads, blisters, red face and nose, and in fact any disease of the skin; it also destroys the germ that causes the disease and makes the cure permanent." Following is the prescription, which can be prepared at any reliable Drug Store at a small cost: Clearola one-half ounce, Ether one ounce, Alcohol seven ounces. Mix, shake well and apply to the parts affected night and morning, letting it remain on the face for ten or fifteen minutes, then it can be wiped off. Do not use any soap, use instead a little oatmeal tied up in a cheese cloth bag.

A Watch is Company

Have you ever noticed how lost and lonesome you feel when you leave your watch at home? Now why not be in good company? Evil communications corrupt good manners. A STANDARD WATCH is the best mannered watch you can carry. A standard Watch—Elgin, Waltham, Howard, Hampden, etc., teaches exactness by example. They do not cheat you out of time by getting you to trains and appointments too late or too early. What is your time worth? Then figure out how much you will save by having one of our Watches that you can always depend upon. Prices begin at $7.00.

AN EASTER SONG.

By ARTHUR J. BURDICK.

Hang not today with silent tongues!
Ring out, ye steeple bells,
And echo from your brazen throats
In glad, triumphant, tuneful notes
The joy that is in us dwells.

Sound on this happy Easter day,
And to the throngs below you say:

"Rejoice, the stone is rolled away.

Hope lies not in the grave!"

Droop not your petals, blossoms fair.
Your spotless leaves unfold
And come this blessed Easter morn
God's holy altars to adorn.

There show your hearts of gold.

The world gave Christ the thorny crown,

The nails, the spear, the curse, the frown.

Come, Hail, shower your incense down
In recompence today!

Song, be not silent this glad day,
But lift your notes on high.

Send up the sweet and fervent strain—

A grateful, thankful, glad refrain,

With heaven's songs to vie.

Show praises to his holy name

Who from his home in glory came

To bear our sorrow, sin and shame.

That we might live for aye!

Hearts, be not dumb, but gratitude
Pour out unto our King.

He gave his all that we might live.

Have we no offering to give?

No sacrifice to bring?

At least our homage let us pay

And sincere thanks extend today

That angels rolled the stone away.

Hope lies not in the grave!

'Twas Not Her Easter Hat

By BELLE TRIMBLE MATTISON.
(Copyright, 1910, by American Press Association.)

"Oh, mamma, you're not going to wear that hat, are you?" Mildred had tragedy in her voice.

"I am."

"What! Mother, dear," cried Dorothy, running in for glove thread, "that awful hat?"

"Exactly."

"On Easter Monday!" they chimed.

"Now, see here," said their mother, "whose hat is this?"

"Oh, it's not mine," said Mildred. "I'll not dispute ownership."

"Don't you want grammy to see your lovely new Easter hat with the flowers and the plumes?" coaxed Dorothy.

"I don't care to spoil the plumes, and it looks like rain. There's a dripping fog now."

"I think it'll clear," said Mildred hopefully as she pinned on a big plump hat of her own—gray-blue, like her eyes.

"I can't see why you girls care so much about this hat today. In the first place, it's an all right hat; in the next place, it will be howlingly stylish for grammy's metropolis; in the third place, we shall see no one we know except grammy, whose affection is not dependent on hats; in the fourth place," she added after a silent moment spent in adjusting her veil, "I'm going to wear it, so you may as well save your splinters."

In the ferryboat they found a seat for her, but had to stand themselves.

"I can't see," murmured Mildred, "why mother will wear that beast of a hat."

"She looks precisely like the head of the biological department," responded Dorothy under cover of mournful sounds from the fog bell.

"Something's got to happen to it," returned Mildred with spirit. "But today! You can't think, Dot, how perfectly elegant he is. I think 'elegant' is a rather cheap word, but I can't think of a single other one that will describe him. Oh, yes, I can, too—thoroughbred, that's what he is."

"Well, of all elegant, thoroughbred ways to meet a girl's mother!"

"He just couldn't get away from his aunt a day sooner—you know the whole party up there was for him—and he said he just couldn't wait a day longer, so at last I told him we were going away, but if I happened to see him in the station I'd present him. And now she has on that hat!"

"Humph!" said Dorothy. "You'd better spend a little time thinking what sort of an impression he'll make on the little mother."

"I've been lying awake nights over that, never fear," responded Mildred.

The boat thumped up into the slip, and they joined their mother in the push to the front.

They found themselves a few minutes early, and as they stood waiting for the gates to open a tall young man rushed by to Mildred and seized her hand enthusiastically.

"Mamma, this is Mr. Frank Shipley, Mrs. Mason's nephew, you know. I think I spoke of him after her house party."

The mind of Mildred's mother quickly reviewed all her daughter had said about this most eligible nephew of her own old friend.

"I think you did," she said as she gave him her hand. "Are you going to the country, too, for the Easter holidays?"

"I'm running down to Salem—a bit of business."

"Oh, you're taking our train, then?"

"Am I? How jolly!"

The gates opened then, and he possessed himself of a wrap and an umbrella she was carrying, helped them all on, located her, found a seat for the girls and then dropped down beside Mrs. Bronson a few seats behind her daughters. And if he watched every turn of Mildred's brown head it did not prevent devoted attention to her mother. He kept up a lively chatter until the train had left Woodbury. She led him to talk of himself. She heard of his life in the west, of his two years abroad, of his plans to go west in the future, of his father's dying hand laid down a year before and which he felt was waiting for him. "Mrs. Bronson," he said suddenly, "I want to ask you something."

She looked at him keenly.

"I want Mildred to marry me. I want to take her back with me. I feel as if my life was just beginning, and I want her to begin it with me. May I ask her?"

"You haven't already done it?"

"She knows I care a lot," he flushed guiltily, but he gazed honestly back into her eyes. "The house party did it. It seems a short time—a week—but when you live right in the house with a girl and see her day and night for that time it's long enough."

Mrs. Bronson sighed.

"I've been awfully afraid to ask you. It's so much to ask for, and, besides, I've been afraid of you. My aunt told me you were quite imposing tremendously stylish, and so on. You

Do You Get Up With a Lame Back? Kidney Trouble Makes You Miserable.

Almost everyone knows of Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney, liver and bladder remedy, because of its remarkable health restoring properties. Swamp-Root fulfills almost every wish in overcoming rheumatism, pain in the back, kidneys, liver, bladder and every part of the urinary passage. It corrects inability to hold water and scalding pain in passing it, or bad effects following use of liquor, wine or beer, and overcomes that unpleasant necessity of being compelled to go often through the day, and to get up many times during the night.

Swamp-Root is not recommended for everything but if you have kidney, liver or bladder trouble, it will be found just the remedy you need. It has been thoroughly tested in private practice, and has proved so successful that a special arrangement has been made by which all readers of this paper, who have not already tried it, may have a sample bottle sent free by mail, also a book telling more about Swamp-Root, and how to find out if you have kidney trouble. When writing mention reading this generous offer in this paper and send your address to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Home of Swamp-Root, Binghamton, N. Y. The regular fifty-cent and one-dollar size bottles are sold by all druggists. Don't make any mistake but remember the name, Swamp-Root, Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, and the address, Binghamton, N. Y., on every bottle.

I can't think how relieved I was when I saw you. I believe," he blundered, "I believe it's your hat. You're an awfully—an awfully homely looking person, you know."

A deeper color shone in Mrs. Bronson's face and a swift gleam lighted her youthful, clear brown eyes. She leaned forward and called softly, "Mildred rose and came back to her."

"Send Dorothy here to me," said her mother, "and take your young man away. I'll have no such stalwart looking man say I look moth-eaten to him."

"Send Dorothy here to me," other day and get off at the Farms for dinner with us But take him away, do."

The girls never knew how it happened that the Salvation Army so soon fell heir to the runabout hat, but after the wedding, as Frank and Mildred were speeding toward their new home in the west, Frank suddenly burst out, "No, sir. I don't see how I should ever have had the courage if it hadn't been for that hat!"

Extensive Showing of New Floor Coverings

Our complete stock of various qualities makes possible satisfactory selections at this store.

What defects in your floor covering did spring cleaning show? Was there a worn spot here and there or ragged edge on a rug? If you are planning new floor coverings, it's best to make purchases early so you will have that much of spring housecleaning plan through, and enjoy the beautiful spring days when spring does come.

THE NEW CARPETS ARE ESPECIALLY INTERESTING

As each roll has its wrapping removed our salespeople were all eager to get a glimpse of the new patterns. One roll revealed some sombre Oriental effect, while right alongside of it was a strikingly beautiful pattern in some bright colored flower.

The stock embraces quite as effective a range of qualities as of patterns—as an instance you will find complete stocks of Ingrain Carpets at 25c to 85c a yard. Tapestry Brussels Carpets 65c to $1.25 a yard. Velvet Carpets $1.00 to $1.40 a yard. Axminster Carpets $1.00 to $1.50 a yard. Rag Carpets 35c to 50c a yard.

CHINA and JAPAN MATTINGS

Lots of people prefer these cool floor coverings for summer. Our direct buying of mattings gives us many price savings. A visit to the store will readily convince you of the advantages of buying mattings at this store.

Japan and China Mattings begin at 15c a yard and go by little jumps to 50c a yard.

LINOLEUMS FOR THE KITCHEN

The kitchen is the pride of the housewife. She points to it with a womanly feeling of pride—always emphasizing its cleanly appearance. Nothing adds more to the cleanly appearance of the kitchen than linoleum on the floor. There is wisdom in making purchases now while stocks offer wide selections. Prices range in this way:

Linoleums 50c to 60c a yard. Inlaid Linoleums $1.25 a yard. Oil Cloth, 1 to 2 yards wide, 30c a yard.

RUGS—ALL SIZES AND PATTERNS

Stocks of Rugs show a wide diversity of new and conventional patterns. A rug purchase is always a safe investment for they generally fit in any room you want to put them. We have assembled a remarkably complete gathering of room size Rugs in Ingrains, Brussels, Velvets and Axminsters.

A SPECIAL FEATURE—we make rugs to order—any size for any room. Prices such as these act as a guidepost to complete stocks in the store.

You will find as well all needed items in the way of floor coverings such as fillers around rugs, stair button and pads. Special prices on all floor coverings for churches, lodge rooms and halls.
